HUGHES PROGRAM REACHES ITS CLIMAX WITH NAVAL TREATY

than a capital ship shall carry guns in excess of 8 inch caliber.

Article 13 provides no vessel designed to be scrapped may be re-converted into a war vessel.

Preparing Merchant Vessels

Article 14 provides no preparations shall be made in merchant ships in peace time for installation of armaments for the purpose of converting such ships into war vessels, other than the stiffening of decks for the mounting of guns not exceeding six inch caliber.

Article 15 provides no vessel of war, constructed within the jurisdiction of the contracting powers for any other purpose shall exceed such an armament limitations of the treaty and that in no case shall aircraft carriers constructed for a non-contracting power exceed 27,000 tons displacement.

Article 16 provides that where warshipbuilding is undertaken within the jurisdiction of a contracting power full information as to such a ship shall be communicated to the other four contracting powers.

Article 17 provides that in the event of a contracting power being engaged in war such power shall not use as a vessel of war any vessel of war which may be under construction within its jurisdiction for any other purpose, or which may have been constructed within its jurisdiction for another purpose and not delivered.

Article 18 provides that no contracting power shall dispose of a vessel of war by "any mode of transfer" so that it may become a war vessel of any foreign power.

Fortifications to Remain

Article 19 provides that "The United States, the British empire and Japan agree that the status quo at the time of the signing of the present treaty with regard to fortifications and naval bases, shall be maintained in their respective territories and possessions specified hereunder."

The first sub-heading under this agreement names, for the United States, insular possessions now held or hereafter acquired in the Pacific except those adjacent to the coast of the United States, Alaska and the Panama canal zone, not including the Alutian Islands and the Hawaiian Islands. The second sub-heading names Hongkong and other leased territories now held or hereafter acquired by Great Britain east of 110 degrees east longitude, except those adjacent to the coast of Canada, Australia and the Panama canal zone. The third sub-heading names as Japanese insular territories and possessions, the Bonin, Kure and Loo-Choo Islands, Amami-Oshima, Formosa, the Pescadore Islands and any insular territories or possessions in the Pacific ocean which Japan may hereafter acquire.

Article 20 provides for a uniform rule of determining displacement tonnage for all five powers.

Chapter 2 is headed: "Rules relating to the execution of the treaty—definition of terms."

Can Complete Ships

Part one carries the specified lists of capital ships already quoted, but makes the tonnage ratio agreement effective for the United States on completion of the two West Virginia class ships and the scrapping of the North Dakota and Delaware; and for Great Britain on completion of the New Zealand. The scrapping of two new ships previously provided for and the scrapping of the four ships they will replace. Provision is made for France to lay down new capital ship tonnage in the years 1927, 1929 and 1931 as provided for in the replacement agreement and with a similar provision for Italy.

Part 2 sets out four rules for scrapping vessels of war. Rule 1 provides that such vessels must be so treated that they "cannot be put to combatant use." Rule 2, provides for the manner in which this may be effected.

Rule 3 of part two, provides that vessels due for scrapping must be rendered immediately incapable of warlike service.

Rule 4 provides that vessels to be scrapped under rule 3 shall be rendered incapable of warlike service within six months from the coming into force of the treaty and the scrapping "finally effected within 18 months."

Replacement Provision.

Part three of chapter two is the replacement provision for capital ships and aircraft carriers and contained in two sections.

Section one provides the general rule that such ships may be replaced within six months from the date of their completion, except in the case of battleships, which may be replaced not earlier than 17 years after such date of completion and it is further provided that with the exception of the two British capital ships provided for the replacement building in specified years by France and Italy, no capital ship tonnage "shall be laid down until 10 years from Nov. 11, 1918."

The replacement rules provide for an increase of displacement of retained capital ships or carriers not to exceed 2,000 tons per ship to cover additional deck gun, anti-air and submarine attack such as "bulge or blister or anti-air attack deck protection."

American Replacement.

Section 2 contains the replacement charts on capital ships for each nation. The American chart has a provision permitting retention of the old battleships Oregon and Illinois "for non-combatant purposes" after they have been rendered incapable of warlike service. Outside of the retention in 1922 of two ships of the West Virginia class to replace the Delaware and North Dakota, no capital ship replacement building could be undertaken by the United States until 1924. Then under the chart two ships would be laid followed by two in 1926, two in 1928, two in 1930, two in 1932, two in 1934 and two in 1936 and two in 1938, two in 1940 and two in 1942. This replacement program would call for the scrapping of the Florida, Utah and Wyoming in 1924 and carry on the replacement and scrapping work up to 1942 when the two West Virginia class ships to be added to the fleet this year, would be replaced at the end of 20 years active service. The chart shows the American ship tonnage in 1918, and the replacement program in 1942. The order of replacement building would give Great Britain her full ultimate strength of 15 post-Jutland ships in 1941.

The French chart shows a provision for five 3,500 ton ships to be laid between 1927 and 1933, all to be completed by 1935. A note is attached, however, saying France reserves the right of employing her capital ship tonnage in 1940, a provision for an advisable subject only to a maximum displacement of 35,000 tons and the other limitations of the treaty.

The Italian chart is similar to the French.

What Japan Get

The Japanese chart, beginning replacement building in 1931 would provide one ship a year from then on until 1933 and Japan would then on full ultimate strength of 10 post-Jutland ships in 1940. A provision is made for retention by Japan of the Shikishima and the Asahi for non-combatant purposes.

A general note attached to the section says that the order of scrapping ships to be replaced may be varied as each power chooses provided the number of ships scrapped each year complies with the provisions of the chart.

Part 4 of chapter 2 contains definitions for clarification of the treaty. Chapter 3 is headed: "Miscellaneous provisions" and contains four additional articles of the treaty dealing with its application should any contracting power be threatened with or become engaged in naval warfare and also with the duration of the agreement and the requirement for its ratification.

Article 21 provides that if "the requirements of the national security of any contracting power in respect of naval defense are, in the opinion of that power, materially affected by any change of circumstances," such power may request a conference for reconsideration and amendment of the treaty.

Suspend Treaty

Article 22 provides that should a contracting power become engaged in a war which affects the national defense of its national security, it may suspend its treaty obligations on notice for the period of the war, other than those of vessels designated to be scrapped may not be re-converted into war vessels, and 17, providing that no war vessel designed at the contracting powers on foreign account may be taken for war uses.

Article 23 provides that the treaty "shall remain in force until Dec. 31, 1936 and in case none of the contracting powers shall have given notice two years before that date of its intention to terminate the treaty, it shall continue in force until the expiration of two years from the date on which notice of termination shall be given by one of the contracting powers, whereupon the treaty shall terminate as regards all the contracting powers."

Meet in One Year

An agreement to meet in conference within one year of Dec. 31, 1936 and in case none of the contracting powers also is provided.

The 24th and last article provides for its ratification under the constitutional methods of each power, place of deposit of ratifications to be Washington, in the archives of the government, authenticated copies to be transmitted by the United States to the other powers.

When Mr. Peters Was Polite His Pocket Was Picked

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Edgerton—Highway Commissioner Peters attended the meeting of the cement dealers in Chicago. He politely gave up his seat in the street car to a lady and when he came to leave the car his pocketbook and $12 in cash were missing.

BIRD HOUSES! ARE YOU MAKING ONE FOR THE PRIZE?

It is time to begin on the bird houses.

The Gazette's contest will be worth while this year.

Cash prizes for the best bird houses.

This contest was announced a long time ago and you were told to get busy then. But perhaps you have forgotten all about it. The Gazette contest is open to all boys and girls in Rock, Walworth, Green, Jefferson and the southern towns of Dane county in which the Gazette circulates or to any boy and girl in a family where the Gazette is taken. There will be classes by ages and locations.

So you had better begin now and when it looks all like spring is on the way and the birds are likely to appear on the trip north the time for closing will be definitely announced.

It will be on or about March 15th. The only adjustment is that the bird house must be made by your own hands and be your own product. It is open for boys and girls.

The bird houses will be placed on exhibition afterward and each, if for sale, should have a price fixed, so that they can be sold. The bird houses remain your property and anything received for them, if for sale, will be yours.

All ready, make the start.

—Peace Dollars—
—Peace Prices—

130,000,000 of the new Peace dollars first issued last month will be minted from time to time, one-half of them being dated 1921 as a souvenir of the "year of peace." Economically as well as politically significant is the word "Peace" that appears on one side of the commemorative coinage. For prices are at peace, too—with the prospect of many, many years of complete harmony between the dollar and the things the dollar must buy.

With a new season at hand, it is a refreshing feeling that all of us can enter it with restored confidence in the stability of values, and can boldly write "ancient history" on that phase of our economic life during which the matter of buying and selling was involved in doubt and confusion. Peace is here.

300 Local Bowling Boosters Storm Madison on Thursday

50 TEAMS INVADE MEET TO TRY TO LAND '23 CLASSIC

Thursday is Janesville day at the Wisconsin state bowling tournament. Fifty-five man teams, a total of 1,650 bowlers, will represent the Bower city at Madison, where this year's meet is being held.

Never in the history of bowling has any city in the southern part of the Badger state other than Madison, sent so many teams to a state pin tournament. The largest number that Janesville ever sent in the past was seven teams—last year, when the classic was held in Milwaukee.

In addition to the teams, the American legion drum corps of 40 pieces will take the journey to Madison with boosters who are expected to make the trip, the total will be swollen to 200 Janesvillers.

Want State Meet

The reason for such an enormous jump in participation by this city is due to the attempts which Janesville is making to bring the tournament here. This year's meet at the Capital city has drawn 300 man-in-teams, or a total of 900 bowlers. It is worth in the neighborhood of $100,000 to Madison business men, this money being the usual amount spent by the bowlers in hotels, local food and drink, and in the purchase of new bowling balls and shoes.

Over 5,000 men, Thursday over the Chicago and Northwestern in order to start rolling doubles and singles at 10:30 a. m. The balance is expected to take the 7:35 a. m. train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul which will carry extra coaches to accommodate the bowlers. They are to be in the city by 9:30 a. m. and are to commence rolling doubles and singles at 10:30 a. m. The five-man teams will get under way at 1 p. m. A number will make the trip by auto. A special train will leave Madison at 12:30 a. m. Friday to bring the bowlers back.

Reduced Rate Tickets

It was announced Wednesday by the Janesville Bowling association that it has been necessary to print special identification coupons here which must be presented at the ticket offices when buying fare and a half tickets for the round trip. These may be had by calling at the editorial rooms of the Gazette Wednesday night at 8 p. m. or from the ticket agent when purchasing tickets Thursday morning. In order to prevent congestion at the ticket office, bowlers are urged to get the coupons at the Gazette.

The legion drum corps will make the trip in trucks and be at the station when the train pulls in at 9:30 a. m. The bowlers are instructed to form in column of fives in the street in front of the C. & St. P. station, Madison, as soon as they arrive. The drum corps will then lead the marchers to the Palisades, where the meet is being held. Arrived at the alleys, the bowlers are asked to remain until given the signal to disperse. The local crowd boosting Janesville for the 1923 meet, will be given to all bowlers and boosters. Printed blue ribbons are being sold by George Kueck to local bowlers.

Those Sending Teams

The firms and organizations sending teams to Madison are:

McNeil Hotel Company; London Hotel; Janesville Electric company; Kiwanis, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5; Janesville Produce company; J. M. Bostwick & Sons; Cadillac; Bellows; Hilliards; Black Cat; Consumers Coal company; First National bank; Simon Tractors; Rotary Club; 2 and 4; Bank of Southern Wisconsin; Newell's cafe; Rock County banks; R. Raise $100 for Expenses

In order to defray advertising, traveling expenses, telephones and other incidental expenses, a committee consisting of Sidney Bostwick and Frank Sinclair called upon local business men Tuesday morning, $100. Those contributing were Badger Cafe, Charles G. Boutin, H. W. Erick, R. H. McKenzie, T. J. Ziegler company, J. M. Bostwick & Sons, Savoy cafe, Janesville Electric company, R. M. Bostwick, McKenzie & Buss, Wisconsin Electric Sales company, C. E. Cochran, Victory lunch, Merchants & Savings bank, Golden Eagle, C. B. Burns company, Simpson, Will P. Bayles, Oscar N. Nelson, J. M. BRINGING UP FATHER

Skating Boom Brings Back Memories of Golden 70s

Many of the skating fans of today will perhaps be surprised to know that Janesville 50 years ago boasted an ice skating rink and that the first annual Gazette derby was held on the ice skating rink. The rink was located on the ground now occupied by the Lewis Knitwear company, and many hot contests were staged there, somewhat similar to the first annual Gazette derby held here last Saturday. Instead of it being a local affair, however, the whole state was invited to participate.

Janesville was known all over the state as having the title figure skater. That young man of those days was none other than the present city assessor, Frank L. Smith. At the age of 18 he vanquished a star from Oshkosh, winning the prize. Mr. Smith was not only good at skating, but an exceptionally fine dancer. One of his stunts in waltzing contests was a close dance, which seemed to please the audience even better than the intricate movements on skates, which is an indication that some people love dancing better than skating.

Some years later the rink was destroyed by fire, and John W. Allen, a prominent business man, enclosed a portion of the river below the railroad bridge with a fence and built small houses on the shore where skaters could put on their skates and get warm when necessary. He charged a small fee for admission. It was not an uncommon sight on Sunday to see a thousand skaters on the ice above the upper dam in those days.

About that time the skaters who were considered the best were Albert Schaller, "Fat" Dewey, "Hans" Rehrendt, Francis Grant, John M. Ward and "Chic" Hanson.

Somewhat later—about 35 years ago—roller skating was the craze, and a small rink was opened in Apollo hall on Main street, over what is now Putnam's store. It was short-lived and after a few months was abandoned and used as a dance hall. Some years later a roller rink was opened in Young America hall, which was located over where the Beverly theater now stands, and managed by the present Charles S. Putnam. As the craze for roller skating became more pronounced, a stock company was formed and the present Coliseum rink was built. Frank Smith (not the Frank of ice skating fame but one who claimed to be a skater from the west) was engaged as manager.

For a time crowds of skaters filled the arena, but after a while skating began to wane, and roller polo was inaugurated. Some of the best polo players in the country were engaged and a state league formed with Oshkosh, Milwaukee and Racine. Many hot contests between these teams were played, Janesville winning the championship.

Among the best women roller skaters at that time were Mrs. Orion Sutherland and Miss Arabia Sutherland. Since that time there has been only spasmodic interest in skating, until the present winter when the fever has broken out with old time fervor. If the weather and ice permits, 1922 threatens to even out the old time craze.

While there are many good skaters seen on the ice nowadays, Mrs. W. R. McNeil is easily the best woman skater. Among the men and boys, "Bert" Nott and Leo Woodworth are among the top notchers, while Herbert Daily, Bernie Daly, Robert O'Brien, Dan Eyster, Ed. Marshall and some others in feature fancy performances.

Amundsen Trains Colts That Sell High as $7,500

The following letter has been received from Sam Wallace, Beloit harness horseman, relative to a recent story in the Gazette:

"In regard to the article I saw in your paper recently about Don Caton, will make a few corrections. I bought Don Caton at Chicago during the speed sale of December, 1917, for $25, also Donna Mack for $30. These colts, small, thin in flesh and tubercular, were consigned to the sale by the Patchen Wilkes farm of Lexington, Ky. I showed these colts at Janesville fair in 1918, winning blue ribbons. When they were coming, three, I took them to Omar Amundsen, horse trainer of Beloit, and he balanced them and drove them and I went down every day and he told me what to do as I tried to take care of them. Later on he bought Donna Mack.

"When he had Don Caton balanced so he was learning to trot, he had me drive him. He started in his first race at Elkhorn July 4, 1919, winning against aged horses which was the first race I ever had driven. His next race was at Mineral Point which he won. I raced him afterwards at Madison, Oregon, Ill., Evansville and Belvidere, winning a 5-hat race at Evansville against aged horses. I sold him that fall for $2,500. The man has just sold him for $7,500.

"As for Donna Mack, she won 11 straight races, mostly stakes, winning four class races in two weeks, taking a record of 1:34 for Omar Amundsen. He sold her in December last for $4,500. I also bought Sir Roache (2:05 1/2) in Chicago for $30, unbroken and two years old. He was a brother at that time. I broke him and drove him all winter on a track. Mr. Amundsen told me that he looked to him like a peer. I took Sir Roache to him, he got him shed and drove him three weeks. After that I trained him under Mr. Amundsen's instructions. I sold him at Madison for $2,500 after I showed them a mile in 2:13 1/2; last half in 1:03 1/2, last quarter in 30 seconds. He took a record this year at Columbus, O., of 2:02 1/2.

"Don Caton (2:06 1/2) never had any training in Janesville."

BAUMANN WRITES PIN MEET SONG

E. C. Baumann, one of the strongest and fairest boosters which the bowling game has in Janesville, has written the words for a Janesville song to be sung when the 50 local teams parade into Madison Thursday. He has set it to the tune of "On Wisconsin." Clip it out and bring it along with you.

ON TO JANESVILLE.
By E. C. Baumann.
(Tune: "On Wisconsin")
On to Janesville,
On to Janesville,
Grand old Badger town,
There to meet our
Brother bowlers,
The town of great renown.
(Chorus: Bowlers.)
Always working, never shirking,
The boys you can't hold down.
Cheer bowlers, Yip-yip-yip,
For Janesville town.

MILTON IN EFFORT TO STOP DEFEATS

Milton.—Coach Grandall's unit, which has lost every game played on the home floor so far this season, will make an effort to redeem itself when Milton plays Plattville normal here Thursday night. Grandall has been working his men hard since the Carroll game in order to perfect weak points in his five-man defense before taking on the Plattville five. In addition to the varsity game Thursday night, there will be a preliminary contest between the Milton college seconds and Union high school.

Cleveland.—Pat McNulty, captain-elect of the Ohio State University baseball team signed a contract with the Cleveland Indians for the coming season.
